Experiment 10.1 can take a couple of tries, and it is a bit more noticeable to see the balloon shrink as you let air back into the jar.

For Experiment 10.2, don't worry about seeing the plate move as much as just seeing the size of the balloon change.

Da Test

You need to have completed it in two days.

When you are ready to take it, ask your parents for the unlock code. That way, they know you are taking the test and can monitor you.

There is no time limit on the test, but you have to complete it in one sitting.

There are some questions where I ask you to describe the way you got to the answer. Be detailed, because I give partial credit based on that!

Study for it using the review questions and even the tests from the Answer Key, because the tests you are taking are different.

When you finish, it will immediately give you a score that is incomplete, because some of the questions I have to grade.
